G.I. Joe: . The Marvel comic ignored the cartoon's Cobra-La origin of Cobra Commander, with writer Larry Hama instead characterizing him as an ex-hippie used car salesman who wants to Take Over the World. Initially, the character never strayed very far from the cartoon's General Failure persona, though he eventually evolved into a Villain Ball, and even a halfway-competent Big Bad, costing the ...Ethan, well, it had to start somewhere! I note with some relief that Italy seems to be moving in a saner direction now. Bruce, an excellent point — and the thing is, Shakespeare's plays are great entertainment, not just fine literature.
ALABAMA'S GHOST (1972) - When Alabama (Christopher Brooks) accidentally drives a forklift through a wall in the basement of San Francisco's famed Earthquake McGoon's nightclub, he finds a hidden passageway that leads to a room that contains all the possessions of "World's Greatest Magician" Carter The Great (E. Kerrigan Prescott), who mysteriously died years before. - Bunch Of Baddies: Cactus Boys (younger Fiction S.)
